You Need These Five Key Estate Planning Documents Now

Estate planning helps give you peace of mind knowing you have planned for your loved ones and property after your death. A proper estate plan ensures your heirs are cared for in a way you desire and can save your family time and money. Estate planning involves making decisions about how your property is used, maintained, and distributed if you become incapacitated and after your passing.

Achieve Peace of Mind for Your Family with Sound Financial Planning for their first PCS and may not know how to weigh the pros and cons of big decisions that come up during the moving process. This uncertainty can make it difficult to make good financial decisions in the moment, such as “Rent or Purchase” and “Do It Yourself (DITY) or Personally Procured Move (PPM).” Join Danielle Nuxoll on May 9, 2019, for AAFMAA Wealth Management & Trust’s next free webinar on how to prepare for PCS season.

More details will arrive to you via email soon, so stay tuned. In the meantime, you can view past webinars in the AAFMAA Learning Hub, all free.

In life, there are many scenarios where having a plan is important. For example, you wouldn’t go on a long vacation to a faraway destination without conducting some research and developing even a basic itinerary that you can follow. The same rules apply to financial planning, while every individual and family might have different needs depending on their lifestyle, a financial plan incorporates your unique factors and helps layout your financial journey.

AAFMAA in the Community

For the fifth-consecutive year, AAFMAA was proud to be the Grand Title Sponsor of the 2019 Marine South Expo at Camp Lejeune, NC. SpouseLink Ambassador Gisella Mancilla (Camp Lejeune) and AAFMAA Marketing Coordinator Jenny Harris, along with other team members, were some of the first to greet thousands of active duty Marines and Veterans as they entered the show. Gisella noted the great success of the event and is confident many more members of the military community now know about the value of AAFMAA Membership!
